Title of policy, service, function, project or strategy (new or old) :

Employees' Code of Conduct - Personal Use of Social Media

Type of policy, service, function, project or strategy:

- Existing
- New / proposed
- Changed

What is the aim of your policy, service, function, project or strategy?

The Code of Conduct is for all employees and is part 4C of the constitution. The aim is to include a new section on personal use of social media to the existing Employees' Code of Conduct.

Due to changes in society and the modern workplace brought about by social media use, it is now considered good practice to clearly inform an employee of the expectations of the organisation with regards to personal use of social media. The Council has already published guidance on the intranet on the use of social media for work purposes and has a policy prohibiting the use of social media on workplace technology, unless express permission for business purposes has been given. By publishing expectations about personal use of social media, employees will then be made aware of all the Council requirements relating to social media.

The new wording shown in Appendix A of the report shows how employees are expected to behave appropriately and in line with Council policies.

It shows how employees must ensure that, in their use of social media and instant messaging systems, they do not make comments about other employees, customers, councillors or the Council that are or could be perceived to be derogatory, abusive, damaging to the individual's or the Council's reputation or amount to harassment, even where such comments are made outside working hours.

The Code of Conduct states that 'The Council expects all employees to deal with one another, the public, clients and elected Councillors in a courteous and civil manner. The Council expects relationships and communication between work colleagues (including those between managers and team members) to be supportive, co-operative and respectful. The new word in the section is 'communication' added for clarification and the expectation relates to all types of communication including for example verbal communication, written and online communication.

Has any consultation been undertaken for this proposal? What were the outcomes of the consultations? Has anything changed because of the consultation? Did this inform your proposal?

The changes have been consulted with the trade unions. The wording has not not changed as a result of the consultation
