Broadening participation with culture benefits the city in terms of increasing visitor numbers and helping us to make a more compelling case to funders. It also helps to evolve perceptions of culture and leisure services by demonstrating the core benefits that they bring to the city. The purchase of the freehold of the theatre will enable a Grade II* heritage building to remain in active use for the benefit of the wider public - both residents and visitors.

How are you going to measure/check the impact of your proposal?

Measures will be in place in regards to the activity provision by the theatre and the building asset will remain open to the public.

The value of the creative industries to the city is considerable and, before the pandemic, it was nationally one of the fastest growth areas. The industry has been severely limited by the pandemic however retaining creative industries jobs - and in particular theatre skill jobs - is important to both the city and the region.

How are you going to measure/check the impact of your proposal?

Measure as part of the annual reporting.
